go. (Baby Duck, Yankee, Big Sis)
Wow! What can I say? We've been through so much! Remember all the things we did this year. Whoever said the people at Epeta are rotten? I think there the most wonderful people in the world. Everyone has made my life worth living. Don't forget R.C.C.. I'm really glad I got to know everyone. Don't ever forget the shore! It was great. I loved it. Remember Kelly's. & that mite. Everyone kept caring because we were all mad! I can't wait till this summer at the shore. There's so much to say, but I don't know how. I won't forget all the lectures & pep talks you gave me about sports! Don't worry I promise I'll never give up & I'll always think of you when I play any sport. I think I realize how much sports means to both of us. I'll never forget all the times you were there when I needed you so much! Please whatever you do keep studying because your future depends on it. Keep your head up high when things get rough & you'll have no problems in the world! Don't give up sports in college either, because when you try your greatest! Don't change & keep the faith in your friends! We'll always be there when you need us. Sis, remember: If ever you need anything or you're in trouble just call & I'll be there to help you always! Take Care, Good Luck, & Be Good! Keep Smiling too! I hope you get everything out of life that you want because you deserve it! Baby Duck be careful you don't get stepped on!

Love Always

Sandy, (Sis, Chgs)

This was the year of the Eagle; the year of the endless, sometimes agonizing, always exciting, basketball season; the year of honor and acclaim; the year of victories that never seemed to end and then did; the year that brought us together, that made a school and a community one; the year of giving--of time, of effort, of support; the year that made us laugh and made us cry; the year of almost, but not quite; the year that made us proud to say "We're number 1, we are the Eagles"; the year that found us saying "Number 2 in the state, but number 1 in our hearts"; the year of 100-point games, personal honors for Charlie, Mike and Cibs and incredible success for Rod Hand; this was the year of the Eagles--the year of Charlie Booker, Mike Edwards, Mike Ciabattoni, John Kubovsak, Craig Conrad, John Leinbach, Tom Farina, Steve Meyer, Jim Brizek, Mike Barrasso, and Dave Hinnerhitz. It was a very good year.

With pride, the PIONEER dedicates its 1974 edition to those Eagles and their coaches.

WELCOME CHAMPS

After winning their first eleven games and the Daniel Boone Holiday Tournament, the Eagles suffered their first league loss in three seasons, a disastrous 21-point rout by Muhlenburg. The remainder of the regular schedule and Kutztown in the semi-finals fell easily to Exeter, setting up the rematch in which the Eagles, led by hot-shooting Charlie Booker and Mike Ciabattoni, ran the Muhs almost out of the gym and walked away with the county championship.

Exeter, seeded third in District III, defeated three opponents, including perennial powerhouse Middletown in overtime, to reach the title game. There they were finally stopped by Cocalico, who came from behind to win, 59-52.

Bloomsburg and Panther Valley, the latter suffering through a spectacular exhibition by All-State performer Booker, were Exeter's first two victims in the state tournament. Then the Eagles played what many considered their best game of the season in easily eliminating tough Bristol, 64-48. The revenge Exeter fans had waited for was achieved in the Eastern finals against Cocalico, where John Kubovsak, who led in scoring despite a fever, and part-time players Tom Farina, Steve Meyer and John Leinbach made up for foul trouble which plagued the Eagle big men, Booker and Mike Edwards.

The state championship game was close throughout, as both Exeter and Midland had good shooting nights. But the defending state titleists from the West kept control, sending the Eagles down to a 58-52 defeat. The team returned home to many grateful Exeter Township citizens and a party in the high school gym. The last tribute to the 1974 Class B state finalists was a banquet in May.

Officers and Class Plan Outdoor Graduation

Two Formal Ceremonies End Seniors' Year

Although the weather was threatening, the class of 1974 was the first Exeter group to have an outdoor graduation. The natural beauty of the campus enhanced the formal beauty of the ceremony. While some parents and guests were seated on the home bleachers of the football field, others and the graduates were seated on the field itself. Both the ceremony and the baccalaureate service, which was held in the junior high auditorium, were attended by many interested people.

ABOVE--An overview of the outdoor graduation site shows the parents and guests as well as the graduates and the speakers. BELOW--"Resisting" is the topic of Robin Rathman's speech in which she recommends that her listeners not blindly follow the pack.

Administration And Faculty

Offices Experience Relocation Process

Dr. Dale E. Reinecker enters his office in the new administrative building. BELOW--Principal Donald MacLean directs all high school activities.

The district office was reorganized in the old Reiffton Elementary Building. This office is responsible for the establishment and implementation of an effective system of communications within the schools. Similar duties are performed by the high school secretaries and administrators. They handle such tasks as ordering supplies, keeping attendance records, and handling any other problems that might arise.

TOP—School Board: S. Wegman, K. Levan, R. Quinter, J. Holzman, W. Petrick, G. Gaul, W. Lessig, S. Meister, R. Brubaker, E. Gilbert, H. Boone.

BELOW--Frau Brown introduces German IV to "Tristan and Isolde." BOTTOM--German is one of several languages in which Belgian exchange student Veronique Ledant can converse.

European Languages Interest Students

The foreign language department provides courses in German, French and Latin. The most extensive program is offered in German, which gives the serious student the opportunity to pursue it for four years. French can be taken by sophomores, and Latin is a two-year course. All of these languages place emphasis on proper grammar and written comprehension.

English Department Offers Intriguing Courses

The third year of English mini-courses brought many innovative and unusual ideas into the Exeter curriculum. The five-member department created a variety of new selections such as Puppetry and Best Sellers to be offered along with standard courses in speech, composition and literature.

Flexibility was added to the English program when social studies mini-courses were introduced, thus allowing the students to switch the period of either subject.

Math Courses Fill Student Knowledge Needs

In order to improve the student's practical and reasoning ability, the math department offers a variety of courses tailored to his particular needs. Business students can further their knowledge with Business Math, Algebra I and Algebra II. Preparation for college bound students is supplied by Geometry, Trigonometry, Math Analysis, and Calculus, which is the only advanced mathematics course offered at Exeter.

History Department Introduces Mini-Courses

The established success of English mini-courses led to the adoption of a similar program by the Social Studies department. Several requirements are made, but within the structure of the program a wide spectrum of electives remain available.

The department has organized the courses under four basic categories: Sociology, History, Culture, and Political Science.

Business Students Learn and Perfect Skills

Because many of today's students are turning to the business side of life, Exeter offers a variety of subjects to enhance their knowledge. The Business Department teaches subjects ranging from Clerical Office Practice to Typing and Filing and Office Machines. The co-op program gives many students an opportunity to go out during school hours and engage in their field of work.

ABOVE—A junior filing and office machines student, Cindy Thomas, takes a moment of her working time to think about her afterschool plans and how she is going to find time to study for tomorrow's filing test.

Lab Sessions Extend Scientific Learning

The science program is structured basically around the needs of the college-bound student. Included in the program are prep chem and physics, chemistry I and II, physics and advanced biology.

The department endeavors to coordinate lectures on scientific procedures with the practical skills of laboratory work. Slinkies in the hallways and the aroma of formaldehyde on the second floor are evidence of the more practical side of science.

Physical Education and Industrial Arts Depts. Present Various Unstructured Situations

Unstructured activities in which students are encouraged to use their individual talents take place under the guidance of both the Physical Education and Industrial Arts Departments. Students electing shop or electronics work on specialized projects while students in the gym courses develop skill in hand and eye coordination and increase their fitness.

posters designed to promote good nutrition through eating a balanced breakfast. BELOW RIGHT--Judy Mignogna and Lisa Hoover discuss where the tomato slice belongs on their culinary masterpiece.

The home economics courses provide a background for both business and personal use. Offering courses on grooming, clothing construction and food preparation, the department reaches a wide spectrum of the school population. All grade levels are represented in the courses which range from boiling water to preparing a gourmet meal and from hemming to zipper inserting.

BELOW LEFT--Carol Shafer and Keith Mervine practice a number for the Night of Music in the band room. ## Creativity Expands in Fine Arts Department

A full year of activities is available through the Fine Arts Department. Those who are interested in vocal music may join the high school choir, while those whose bent is for instrumental music may participate in the marching and stage bands. Artistically oriented students may enroll in a daily art course. These students enter art contests and design and execute signs and sets for plays.

Education Specialists Serve Student Needs

Mr. Jakubowski, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Francis and Mrs. Koste all share one common tie. They help the students. As the new librarian, Mrs. Brown works to keep the library suitable for students and faculty use. Mr. Jakubowski and Mrs. Koste serve to guide both Exeter's alumni and undergraduates and prepare them for the world after graduation. The school's nurse, Mrs. Francis, keeps the students healthy enough to benefit from the services of the other specialists.

Sports

Football, Wrestling, and Basketball Squads Entertain Fans and Promote School Spirit

The common goal of the three cheerleading squads is the encouraging of athletic spirit. Although the fall and winter sports they cheer for vary greatly, these girls utilize the similar techniques of pompon routines, mounts, and rhythymical chants. In addition to entertaining and leading the crowd, the squads decorate lockers and purchase treats to help keep up team morale. Choreographing new routines, practicing, and making money are also duties of the girls.

The Inter-County League season turned out to be a near carbon copy of last year's for the football team, although the squad was vastly improved and dropped two close contests.

The Eagles, after being outclassed by three league opponents, showed a great deal of ability in giving league champion Conrad Weiser its biggest scare of the season. Following this game, Exeter lost only one of its last four, a one-point heartbreaker to Daniel Boone.

Two Girls Picked Berks All-Stars

First place was within sight for most of the season, but a final game loss to Mount Penn forced the Eaglettes into a tie for third in the division. The varsity finished 5-3-2, while the JVs won seven games for second place.

Berks County coaches recognized two outstanding players, Gwen Kennedy and Mary Woynarowski, with election to the Berks County Eastern Division All-County team.

RIGHT--Against Governor Mifflin, several Exeter runners leave the pack early. BELOW--Bill Mabon chases a record on the Exeter course.

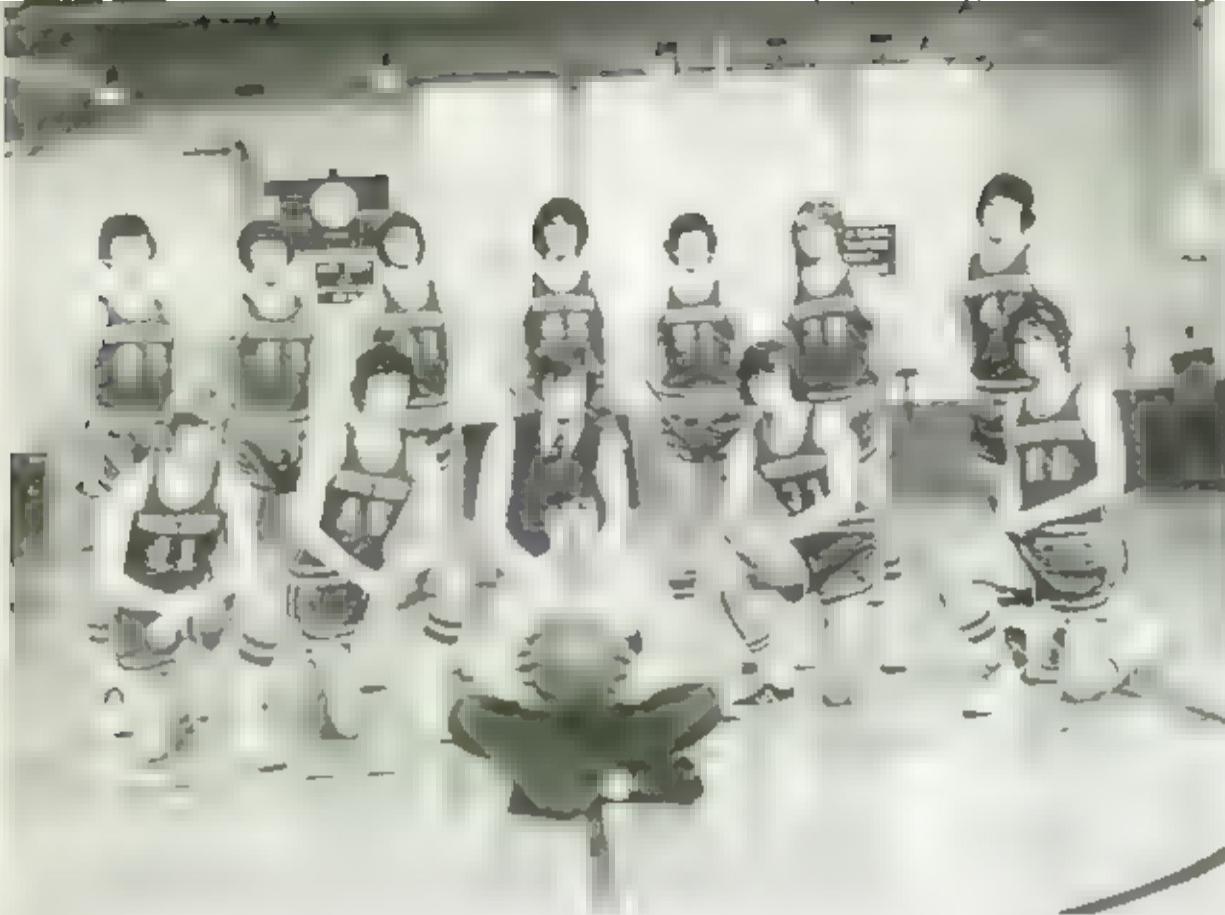

The first of many honors won by the cross-country team was the county championship. Bill Mabon, Fred Frederick, Gary Penkunas, Matt Potteiger and Roy Bieber placed as Exeter won the tough showdown with Muhlenburg to stay undefeated in the league.

A third-place at the District III meet earned the Eagles a spot in the state run at Penn State, where they finished twelfth despite injuries to key team members.

The most successful season in Exeter history ended in Harrisburg, where the Eagles lost the state championship game by six points. The team reached the finals by taking second place in the District III tournament and then winning four more playoff games.

On the way to a 30-3 record, the Eagles took their second Berks County title in three seasons. Charlie Booker set school single-season and career standards for scoring and rebounding.

After losing two non-league games to Mifflin and Muhlenberg, the Eaglettes began the league season with a dramatic 36-33 overtime win over Mt. Penn. Success followed the Eaglettes through the league season as they finished with a 9-1 league record to cop the Section A title of the Eastern Division. In playoffs the girls did not fare as well, dropping the Eastern Division playoff to Brandywine 48-40 and their first District playoff game to Conestoga Valley 57-30.

Under new head coach John Mapes' direction, the grapplers finished the season with a 9-2-1 record, a vast improvement over previous seasons. With the advent of a winning wrestling team, attendance at home matches grew until the team had a sizeable following by season's end. Post-season district competition saw five Eagles advance to competition in round II of the District tournament.

Bowling out of Bowl-A-Rama Lanes, the girls' bowling team struggled through an extremely long season. Under the leadership of Coach Carol Weinman, the girls practice or compete throughout the school week. In addition, many team members spend their Saturday mornings practice bowling in one of several non-competitive leagues.

Heartbreaking Defeats Produce Losing Season

Under the coaching of John Mapes, the boy's tennis team ended the season with a record of 3-12. With only three players returning, the young squad had to adapt to working together. Steve Wilrigs was first man throughout the entire season, while the second spot was a constant battle between Pete Thomas and Skip Connell.

Wilrigs and Bob Eckenroth entered the county tournament in singles, while Thomas and Connell were in the doubles division.

Girls' Tennis Team Nets Eastern Championship

In only their second year of existence, the girl's tennis team had a very successful season. Having become the Eastern Division Champions, they advanced to meet Reading for the County Championship. Unfortunately they were defeated 2-5 leaving a final 9-3 record. Under the leadership of coach Carolyn Ortwein, seniors Cheryl Killian, Barb Lubas, and Robin Rathman dominated the top three seedings on the team throughout the year.

Golfers Win Six Matches and Finish Third

A pair of victories, including a tie against Mount Penn which was won by comparing the scores of the sixth men, made Mr. Jurasinski's last season as golf coach a winning one.

John Perdoch, Doug Artz and Mike Weisberger qualified for the county tournament, where John finished ninth. He and Doug scored well enough to make it to districts.

Next year golf will be held in the fall.

Four Girls Earn Trip To State Meet

The highlights of the girls' track season included the second place finish of Kristen Bankes in the 880 run in state competition and the participation of the 880 relay team in the state meet. Throughout the season individuals were repeatedly successful in dual meets while the team results were not noteworthy. The only team victory came in the opening meet against Oley, 95-46.

Fighting an unusually rainy spring, the track season ended with a 2-4 record, but with some individual highlights. Sophomore Jim Thomas placed either first or second in each of the dual meets and was picked for the All Star Track Meet. The 2 mile relay team with Rhoads, Bieber, Frederick, and Penkunas finished fifth in district three competition and was also chosen for the all-star meet.

Boys Repeat Section Championship Title

The young baseball squad consisted of seven seniors and twelve underclassmen, but they still won the sectional title and made the semi-finals of the county championship. An 8-2 league record, which included a 17-7 victory over Daniel Boone, carried the Eagles into a playoff for the Eastern Division title, where they were eliminated by Fleetwood in a three-game series after winning the first game.

Eaglettes Finish Their Season in First Place

Lead by senior pitcher Tauni Thomas, the girl's softball team finished as section A champions in the Eastern Division. The girls ended the season with an 8-1 league record and a 9-2 overall record.

Hitting surges marked several games as the Eaglettes erupted to score 18, 14, 20 and 11 runs in four season contests. The girls did not fare as well in the championship game falling to Fleetwood on Oley's field.

Pioneer Captures Activities and Attitudes

With the addition of sophomore members, the Pioneer staff now encompasses all three high school grades. This staff is responsible for producing an accurate record of the school year. Included among the duties of the staff are the expected ones of copy writing, picture cropping, page laying out, and proof reading. The unexpected duties include such diverse ones as driving to Shillington for the wet pictures, mailing completed pages at 4:55 to meet deadlines, chasing teachers around the building to get team records, and hounding people to finish paying for their yearbooks.

Keeping faculty and students abreast of newsworthy events at Exeter is the job of the "Echo." Published monthly, the paper covers such topics as sports, academic events, alumni news and school and community problems.

Work on the "Echo" is done almost entirely by students. Articles are planned and written by the editorial staff. Production is then completed by the typing and graphic arts staffs.

Highlighting the year was the annual conference at Columbia University where the "Echo" received a second place award.

Honor Society Emphasizes Scholarship

Although scholastic achievement is a primary requisite for induction into Honor Society, students who are elected also are involved in many extra-curricular activities at school as well as in the community. Juniors and seniors who are eligible for membership because of grades may have participated in sports, musical events and dramatics. Many Honor Society members are officers of other school organizations.

Stage Crew and Thespians Produce Plays

The combined efforts of the stage crew, International Thespian Troupe 1533, interested members of all the high school grades, and the responsible faculty members produce four dramatic productions each year. These productions include a drama, an Exeter Township Education Association presentation, a comedy, and a musical. Thespian membership is granted to all those students who have worked efficiently for more than 100 hours.

Student interest as well as overall education are expanded through the use of materials provided by the Library and Audio-Visual Departments. The AV Club keeps the school's projectors and audio equipment in good repair and makes it available for class use. The library has expanded from books and magazines into the realms of sound filmstrips, cassettes, transparencies and microfilm.

Council Sponsors Successful Nostalgia Day

A constitutional revision which brought back elected representatives solved the attendance problem which had plagued the Student Council in recent years. Nostalgia Day was one of the group's most successful projects.

Student interest was encouraged by forming a Publicity committee, providing a suggestion box and even considering an official name change.

Brotherhood Club Adopts Local Grandfather

The Brotherhood Club received a trophy for collecting for the Multiple Sclerosis Society. They visited churches, sold Italian sandwiches, and visited St. Joseph's at Easter with an Easter bunny.

A year-long project was the "adoption" of a grandfather, whom they visited once a month. He was invited to attend a smorgasboard at Collegeville with the club at the end of the year.

Wheeler, D. Gaul, G. Kennedy, E. Morgan, President D. Makuch.

As a community service club, Y-Teens perform a variety of activities. Among these activities are visits to an old-age home, a Big Sister program, support of an Indian girl named JoLeen, and a newspaper and magazine drive which was quite successful. In order to support these activities, Y-Teens sell candy apples at football games and hold a variety of other fund raisers.

In a year filled with service projects, the Key Club's most successful were the "Send a Mouse to College" cancer fund drive and the collection of newspapers in conjunction with Y-Teens' recycling push. In addition, the Key Clubbers staged a faculty-alumni basketball game at which the new initiates served as cheerleaders.

The YMCA sponsored Hi-Y Club held numerous charitable and fund raising projects during the year. Hi-Y members participated as a group in the March of Dimes "Walk-a-Thon." Also, the Hi-Y sold coffee at football games, collected newspapers from the schools in our district and held a bake sale at Boscov's. The club also finalized plans to erect the marquee they purchased several years ago.

A major change for the club this year was the change from Future Teachers of America to Pennsylvania Youth Education Association. This change was accomplished in the hope that the new name would encompass all areas of education rather than merely teaching. In addition, the members visited the Berks Campus of Penn State and Alvenia College and observed classroom teachers in the district.

M.C.C. Members Inspired by Guest Speakers

One of the major activities for members of the Medical Careers Club is the hearing of guest speakers from area hospitals, laboratories and colleges who give advice on career opportunities in the field of medicine. In addition, the club visits various hospitals and old folks' homes and prepares little baskets and treats for the shut-ins. To raise money for the club, members also sold hoagies.

Under the direction of Karl Schmidt, the choir once again staged a Christmas concert. For the first time, the vocalists were joined by instrumentalists from the junior and senior high schools. A combination of religious songs and traditional Christmas carols were performed in the junior high to an audience of parents and friends. Participation in the musical also highlights the chorus's year.

BOTTOM RIGHT--Their future together is the sole concern of Peter Thomas and Terry Ceiger in the roles of Peter and Phyllis.

Kind Lady

The first dramatic production of the season was the suspense murder mystery entitled Kind Lady. The plot, written by Edward Chorodov and based on a short story by Horace Walpole, concerns an older woman who is forced to sell her paintings and other works of art by several unscrupulous characters. The 8:00 evening performance was presented on Saturday, October 27.

You Can't Take it With You

ABOVE--Money is the sole interest of Tony's father, as played by Michael Jurasinski. BELOW--Donald Evans, as Ed, is painted in his toga by his mother-in-law, Penny.

The Exeter Township Education Association presented its third annual production to benefit the senior high scholarship fund on November 16 and 17. The sprightly comedy of Kauffman and Hart concealed a theme particularly relevant to modern man. The play was selected by the faculty for its emphasis on "doing your own thing." ETEA members from all grade levels participated.

The Matchmaker—March 7, 9, 10

One of the most innovative productions of the drama department was the March presentation of "The Matchmaker". The comedy was presented in theater-in-the-round, as the high school stage was converted into a theater in miniature. The audience was seated on risers around the stage and was able to participate first hand in the progress of the play. "Matchmaker" brought together members of all three classes under the direction of Miss Steinberg.

TOP--The cast of "The Matchmaker" waves good night to the audience as part of the informal theater-in-the-round presentation. ABOVE--Irene Ma Ioy tells Minnie Fay, as portrayed by Susie Frantz, that she intends to marry Horace Vandergelder to escape the hat shop. RIGHT--Cornelius tries to hide Barnaby under the table in Irene's shop so Horace won't discover they have come to New York. BELOW--After reading Horace's palm, Dolly promises Horace a long life that he should live to the fullest.

The Pajama Game

ABOVE--The attention of seamstresses Gabe Gannon and Vicki Reeser is captured by Peter Rosacker, as Sleep Tite owner Myron Hasler, during a speech on the importance of togetherness. ABOVE RIGHT--Observed by the factory management, Paul Hottenstein plays clock-watcher Hinzie in a modeling job. FAR RIGHT--As superintendent S.O. Shrokin and union grievance committee head Babe Williams, Brian Clark and Gale Ringler take a moment from their discussions to sing "There Once Was a Man." RIGHT--During the slow down, Gabi Gannon and Connie McCabe work lazily.

The simplest of staging highlighted the acting and singing in the annual all-school musical which was presented in the senior high auditorium on April 26 and 27. "The Pajama Game" chorus was featured in several numbers as were the second leads.

Mr. Schmidt was joined at the twin pianos by Linda Scornavacchi, and both his and Miss Steinberg's jobs were made easier by the help of Mr. Richardson, Mr. Bennett, and Mr. Kasper.

The Band Presents—A Night of Music

The high school band's annual "Night of Music" was held in the Junior High auditorium on March 22. Participating in the program of musical entertainment were the band, majorettes, color guard, flag twirlers, pit band, and managers. Innovations in the production included the special effects of an electric kaleidoscope, a mirror ball, and ultra-violet lighting. In addition to the usual flag and baton twirling, the band front performed tap dance and modern jazz routines.

"A Time For Us" was the theme for the prom presented to the class of 1974 by the junior class under the direction of Mr. Emes and Matt Hilbert. The prom committee, made up entirely of juniors, worked on programs, decorations for the Abraham Lincoln Hotel Ballroom, and decorations for the tables. Other duties of the committee included hiring the band and the ballroom.

Jo,

How I wish I was in New Jersey so much to say and not enough room to write.
I'd never forget all the good times we had writing home & on all kinds of paper from Cedar Point to New Jersey. And now we have each other's phones. I have mine here in Italy and she has hers in Italy & I have hers as a keepsake. And I don't know how much it means to me because I can't see many practices coming your way and so I even like our talking back & forth letters you wrote to me when I was in Europe. All the things we went together never forget the time we took a road trip to when we (as I started then) at school and I took my first flight & I got sick on the Best Wishes and we got lost.

Forget the time Munch was <sup>The Class of 1974</sup> in a movie and we got lost when it almost雷了 from air, and now we always use a GPS when we travel here.

I never forget all the good times at Munch's house I've been there.

Munch will THE BOOSTER'S CLUB to back you now & when I'm not a million miles away. Henry is not writing but I think about you all the time. I know whatever you do is just please don't forget values & respect for others, all friends and well do anything. I hope you all are well & you'll never need someone to talk to or anything or here now for very welcome & brotherhood that some of us called family & my dad called you guys and I really appreciated them & good luck in the future in everything. See you Friday and just be yours and you'll go far & I know you will succeed your best
(By the way I expect to see you in the Italian basketball team)
Take care.

WE ARE HERE BECAUSE OF YOU
AND WE NEVER WANT TO FORGET IT

BROTHERHOOD CLUB

Reflecting on the last three years,
We often have to cry.
We've witnessed people being cruel
without a reason why
Our time in school has shown us things
We never thought we'd see So many times have people hurt my friends as well as me

But Brotherhood is something
That we all should want to share
The students that attend this school
Should really start to care.
Here's hoping that the future years
Will help this club to grow
The more that people get involved
The more that they will know

And someday when they understand,
They'll live in harmony
The school w/ be a better place
Just try it and you'll see

Good Luck to Class of 74

I don't think anyone else
Knows this past year like myself
And those who used their efforts to Create the pages you've gone through.

The wait to get our pictures back,
"What can I say about girls' track?"
We would write and then erase
Until the caption fit the space.

There are several who get praise
For hanging in there many days--
Barbara, Cathie, Gale & Pete
And Miss Yohe, who made ends meet.

I hope that it is understood--
Things can't always be as good
As new ideas that we had,
For they sometimes turned out bad.

But one year of many plans
Put this book into your hands,
And we hope for years to come
You will enjoy what we have done.
